VITAL LINK BETWEEN CANTON-KOWLOON RAILWAY EXTENSIVELY DAMAGED: TRACK

First picture to be published in Hongkong of the new eight-foot wide foot-bridge across the Shumchun River. It was opened yesterday in place of the old railway bridge. This bridge provides easy passage across the frontier into Chinese territory. It will be recalled that the former railway bridge was demolished when the Japanese took up their position on the other side of the river.—Daily Press.

LAD WASTE BY GUERILLA BANDS

Repairs Will Take Many Months At Huge Cost

BY A HONGKONG DAILY PRESS STAFF REPORTER

As the result of a ten-mile trek along the Canton-Kowloon Railway from Shumchun to Po-kut, I was able to gather from guerillas encountered on the way that the quarter-mile long Sheklung Bridge, vital link between the Canton and Kowloon sections of the Railway, has been so extensively damaged that it will take many thousands of pounds, and many months, before it could be satisfactorily repaired.

Sheklung Bridge is about 35 miles away from the furthest point reached by me but on my way thus far I met such a large number of guerillas that I was able to make extensive enquiries and am satisfied that my information is reliable.

The leader of one band of the British border for a long time to come, if ever.

OCCUPIED BY GUERILLAS

The whole country through which the line travels is now occupied by guerillas. I met hundreds and hundreds of them. Some in khaki-green uniforms, some in civilian clothing, but all armed with rifles or revolvers and equipped with bulging ammunition pouches, full of ammunition.

They were grim, determined looking men, and eyed me with suspicion in spite of the fact that I was being escorted by two of their numbers. Every Chinese official whom I met had a body-guard of armed guerillas walking behind him.

This is exactly how I found conditions along the line between Shumchun and Po-kut. Hardly a sleeper was left, but the rails lay on both sides of the line. The concrete foundations for the line, however, were still there and the few bridges I saw were intact.

The fact that the former railway bridge across the river at Shumchun has been re-built as an eight-foot-wide foot-bridge, hardly wide enough to accommodate a locomotive even if rails were laid on, tends to show that there is no likelihood of the line being re-built beyond

IMPORTANT MEETING ON BORDER TODAY

An important meeting between Chinese Government officials from across the border, and local Government officials, will take place today to consider the question of facilitating the return of refugees to their homes in the border towns. It is reliably understood by the Hongkong Daily Press.

It is also learned that several other important questions will also come up for consideration and that the decisions reached have important bearings on the whole question of refugees in the Colony.

This picture of Mr. Chan Ka-chun, secretary to the newly appointed magistrate of Shumchun, was taken while he was being interviewed by our reporter yesterday. Mr. Chan was deputising for the magistrate, Mr. Hung Yu-sun, who was away on a circuit of inspection of the Po On district. With Mr. Chan are Chinese military and police officials.—Daily Press.

ECKFORD FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER: SHAI JURY RECOMMENDS MERCY

SHANGHAI, Jan. 11 (Reuter).—The trial of PRIVATE DAVID ECKFORD, of the Seaforth Highlanders, on a charge of the murder of Lance-Corporal James Davis, of the same Regiment, concluded in the British Supreme Court today when the accused was found guilty of murder with a recommendation to mercy.

At the resumption of the trial stood smartly to attention and received the Court's decision without flinching.

Throughout the entire trial his demeanour was most calm, although a slight nervousness was apparent a few minutes before the jury returned.

This was the first murder trial of a British subject in Shanghai since the case of the Indian Atma Singh three years ago.

FINAL ADDRESSES

When the jury returned to the Court from the blockhouse, the Crown Advocate, Mr. John McNeill, and Mr. Newman, counsel for the defence made their final addresses to the jury.

Counsel for the Crown endeavoured to make out that it was a deliberate murder while Mr. Newman spoke about the benefit of the doubt on which, he said, the accused could be acquitted, or be found guilty on a manslaughter charge.

LONG DELIBERATION

The Judge passed sentence of death promising to forward the recommendation for mercy.

The jury deliberated for 2 hours and 41 minutes before reaching their verdict. Until the last moment the possibility of a verdict of manslaughter was not completely ruled out.

NAZI SUBMARINE CAUGHT IN A FISHING NET

LONDON, Jan. 11 (Reuter).—A Danish fisherman caught a German submarine.

It is said that his net was caught by a heavy object and he pulled for some distance when the periscope of a German submarine appeared, entangled in the netting, until it broke.

The fishermen regretfully stated that this "fish" got away.

Thousand Lives Feared Lost: 70 Junks Burned In Sudden Attack By Japanese Destroyer Near Swabue

56 JUNKS BURNED ON JULY 21, 1939 OFF SWABUE

The following is an extract from the Hongkong Daily Press of July 27, 1939:—

News reached Hongkong on July 26 of the deliberate destruction by fire of an entire fleet of fishing junks off Swabue on July 21. Altogether, 56 vessels were burned. The consequent loss of life is placed at above 1,000, while the financial loss suffered is stated to be over $500,000.

TURKEY 'QUAKE KILLED 25,000

ANKARA, Jan. 11 (Reuter).—The official estimate of the casualties of the recent earthquake and floods in Turkey was given as 25,000 killed, 80,000 injured and 30,000 homes destroyed.

Struggling Fisherfolk In Water Machine-Gunned

SPECIAL TO THE HONGKONG DAILY PRESS

The Japanese Navy has renewed its war on defenceless Chinese fishing craft. In an unexpected early morning attack on Tuesday, a large fleet of about 70 junks, including a number registered in Hongkong, were surrounded, while peacefully carrying on normal activities near Swabue, by a Japanese destroyer and trawlers, shelled, burned and completely destroyed.

OVER 1,000 PERSONS MAKING UP THE CREWS OF THE JUNKS ARE FEARED DEAD, WHILE FINANCIAL LOSS IS ESTIMATED TO EXCEED $1,000,000.

First intimation of the atrocity was brought to Hongkong yesterday by a handful of survivors. Their spokesman, 39-year-old Fung Hoi-ying, master of Hongkong-registered junk No. 2238, related the story on his arrival to officials of the Hongkong Fishermen's Guild, who are it is understood, making a full report to the Secretariat for Chinese Affairs.

The junks had been fishing for some days in the Kip Shek area, off Swabue. About 4 a.m. on Tuesday, according to the report, the junk people were surprised from their sleep by the arrival of a Japanese destroyer and a number of smaller vessels.

The destroyer opened fire on the Chinese craft which, though caught unawares, made vain attempts to escape. A few junks succeeded in

SPECIAL SURVEY OF CONDITIONS IN SHUMCHUN: TOWN IS RAPIDLY RETURNING TO NORMAL: A NEW BRIDGE ON FRONTIER

BY A HONGKONG DAILY PRESS STAFF REPORTER

Conditions in Shumchun are rapidly returning to normal. The populace which evacuated the border town in such tragic circumstances following the ruthless bombing and subsequent occupation by the Japanese a few months ago, and sought sanctuary in this Colony, are now going back in fairly large numbers and the town is quickly assuming its former air of peace and prosperity.

An important stage in the border situation was marked yesterday when a new eight-foot wide foot bridge was opened across the frontier in place of the railway bridge which was demolished when the Japanese took up their positions across the river five months ago.

I spent the greater part of yesterday making a thorough survey of conditions in Shumchun and the first thing that impressed me, even before I got to the town proper, was the large number of returning refugees making free use of the new gateway across the border which until a few days ago could only be crossed by boat.

Shumchun itself presents a pathetic picture. The ruins caused by Japanese bombs are still there as a reminder of the terrible time the unfortunate inhabitants had during the critical five months past. The streets are almost deserted except for a few that have returned.

The town is in the hands of guerillas under the command of a magistrate and apart from preserving the peace, and preventing looting, etc., they are doing everything possible to encourage former inhabitants to return.

I called on the magistrate, Mr. Hung Yu-sun, but unfortunately found him out. He was on a tour of the whole Po On district studying conditions. He is a new official from Sekiang and only took up duties a few days ago.

I was able, however, to get an interview with his secretary Mr. Chan Ka-chun, who was deputising for him as magistrate. Mr. Chan is a former official of the Hongkong Police.

U.S. Fleet Expansion Worrying Japan

TOKYO, Jan. 11 (Reuter).—The Navy Ministry spokesman declared that Japan feels "grave concern" regarding the proposed 25 per cent increase in the United States Fleet.

He added: "The United States apparently means to maintain a superior ratio over the Japanese Navy."

Referring to the American proposals to fortify Guam, the spokesman, recalling that Congress previously rejected the proposal, said it was certainly unpropitious to take up the matter again.

The newspaper, Yomiuri, says that Japan decided to open the Yangtze up to Nanking and the United States replied by announcing a plan to construct 52,000-ton capital ships.

BUDAPEST, Jan. 11 (Reuter).—Commenting on the Venice talks Pester Lloyd says: "Italy and Hungary are bound together for good, as well as for bad fortune, and the world knows that Italy backs Hungary with all her military power."

EXCELLENT SCORES AT H.K.R.A. MID-WEEK SHOOT AUGUR WELL FOR BISLEY MEET

Sixty-five members took part in the spoon shoot on Wednesday, and, in spite of a somewhat troublesome cross-wind, some good scores were made.

A SURPRISE SELECTION IN COLONY SOCCER XI

The uncertainty concerning the Interport football match against Shanghai vanishes on Monday with the selection of the Colony team which, for the first time, will visit the North without a single Chinese member. This will undoubtedly rob the match of its drawing power, as the Chinese are great favourites there.

The non-participation of Chinese players in this year's Interport match has drawn criticism from the Shanghai papers as to the advisability of inviting a Hongkong team composed mainly of non-Chinese civilians for, in their opinion, the trip would be a failure from the financial point of view.

But these papers seem to have overlooked the fact that the Interport series were not inaugurated for the purpose of augmenting the funds of the two Associations concerned, but to foster the spirit of co-operation and, generally, to improve the game of football to the benefit of all those who follow this great winter game.

For this reason, local soccer fans, I am sure, will join with me in congratulating the Shanghai F.A. on their fine spirit.

In view of the many difficulties that have confronted the H.K.F.A. it would be unfair to criticize the local selections, though, I must say, I am surprised at seeing Honnibal being given the left-wing berth.

A record that is without precedent will be the appearance of A. V. Gosano in his 11th Interport against Shanghai.

As there is ample time before the team sails for Shanghai on Feb. 4, the local authorities will no doubt take the opportunity of allowing the players "to get acquainted" in arranging practice games for them.

A good test would be to pit the Interport eleven against a combined Chinese team "in a Charity game."

CHALLENGE TO REPUTED NAZI AIR SUPERIORITY BY ALLIES

10,000 PLANES FROM U.S.

WASHINGTON, Jan. (Reuter).—The Allies purchasing agents in the United States are rapidly negotiating orders for warplanes for 1940 and 1941 and the result is expected to be a flow of planes, particularly bombers, across the Atlantic more than offsetting Germany's reputed air superiority.

10,000 NEEDED
In connection with these reports, the Allies' agents told United States aviation circles that a least 10,000 more machines will be needed from the United States within eighteen months.

While officials are reticent, it is understood that aviation circles consider the figure of 10,000 reasonably accurate.

PRESENT ORDERS
Britain and France at present have 2,010 combat planes on order and, before the end of 1940, orders are expected to be completed for another 3,300, which is about the limit of United States factory capacity, but, by the beginning of 1941, United States factories will be able to supply the Allies with about 1,000 planes monthly.

PREMIER ABE MAKES DESPERATE EFFORTS

SHANGHAI, Jan. 11 (Reuter).—The China Press, in a leading article, says that the most interesting political brain-teaser from Japan today is whether Premier Abe's desperate efforts to set up a Central regime in China will finally save his tottering Cabinet. The newspaper adds: "It is clear that programmes for organising such a regime are being used by Premier Abe purely as political weapons to ward off those attacks which threaten to overthrow his Cabinet and they were cooked up without the powerful support of the Japanese military, or the brilliant and powerful section of it. Briefly, the Japanese ally in China."

JEAN ARTHUR AND CARY GRANT are co-starred together for the first time in the new Howard Hawks production, "Only Angels Have Wings" which comes to the screen of the King's Theatre on tomorrow. They appear against the romantic background of tropical South America. Also featured in the Columbia picture, a story of reckless adventure in the skies, are Richard Barthelmess, Rita Hayworth and Thomas Mitchell.

IN GERMANYI.O.U. NOTES FOR

Some indication of the additional taxation the German people have to shoulder is now disclosed in the German press.Some $5,000,000,000 a year will have to be squeezed out of the people and there has been much speculation as to what methods will be used.

EXTRA INCOME TAX

It is certain, however, that an extra tax of 9.16 per cent., on 1939
incomes will be claimed and, this,
the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung points out, will bring the maximum tax for the first period up to 64.18 per cent.It is possible that German workers will have of what wages they have left paid in the form of
I. O. U.'s. This is revealed by the

the exact form of these I. O. U.
notes have not yet been decided.DELAYED SAILING:

FRENCH STEAMER
GOES AGROUND: BACK BROKENLONDON, Jan. 11 (Reuter)—The loss of the British ship in the North Sea on Tuesday is all the more bitter because of her earlier escape from air bombing during the Spanish War. This Glasgow steamer is the Oakgrove of 1935 tons, which has been sunk by Nazi aircraft.

CREW SAVED

All her crew have been saved, but her master is missing. He was Captain Falconer, who commanded the Oakgrove during the Spanish War.At one time, she was held by the Spanish cruiser Almirante Cervera off Santander, but was rescued by a British cruiser and British destroyer.

SHIP AGROUND

LONDON, Jan. 11 (Reuter)—The French steamer Montauban (4,191 tons) went aground on the northeast coast of Britain on Tuesday and, it is feared, has broken her back. All the crew are safe, but the Captain and three of the crew remained on board.A lifeboat took off the remaining thirty-nine.

LINER HITS REEF

LONDON, Jan. 11 (Reuter)—A
Union Castle liner, the 7,000-ton
Rothsay Castle, hit a reef off the West Coast of Scotland on Tuesday and was damaged. She is still on the rocks and twelve of her crew, including the Captain, are still on board.She is not in any danger and it is thought the ship will not be lost.

COLUMBUS CREW

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (Reuter)—
The United States Department of State announces that the crew of the scuttled Nazi liner Columbus, who have been detained on Ellis Island, will be sent home to Germany by secret routes within

"There Was Not Nothing Left For Me But Death"

TRAGIC WORDS UTTERED BY YOUNG GIRL WITNESS AT SHANGHAI STREET FIRE INQUIRY

"There was nothing left for me but death," was the tragic statement made by a 15-year-old girl, Li Sam, at Kowloon Court yesterday when the inquiry was resumed into the Shanghai Street fire disaster on the night of December 3.

Having said these words, the girl, who appeared short in stature for her age, proceeded to tell a dramatic story of how, with this thought in her mind, she set about the task of surviving the fire. She proceeded to flood the kitchen by opening a water tap.

"I remember the fire," Li Sam said. "When it broke out I was cooking congee in the kitchen at the rear of the premises." She lived on the third floor of No. 482, Shanghai Street. She continued:

I heard police whistles first, I rushed out, trying to get to the verandah, but was prevented by the fire. The flames were coming from below, from the direction of the staircase. When I finally could not get to the front verandah, I ran back to the kitchen and hid myself under the fireplace.

There was nothing left for me but death. I threw some dry sawdust into the iron grating near the fireplace where the dirty water went down. I wanted to block up the drain. At the same time I turned on the water tap. I also shut the kitchen door.

FELT THE HEAT

The water flowed first into the large water jar that was underneath the tap, but later it overflowed. I stayed in the recess just under the fireplace. I did not know if I was quite safe there. I felt the heat, but the flames did not reach me.

While I stayed there, the kitchen windows caught fire and were burnt out. Occasionally it became so hot, I had to scoop some water from the floor into my hiding-place to cool it. I remained there till the fire had burnt out.

It was a long time. Finally I got out and stood on a concrete stone slab where the chopping block stood usually. From there I called out: "Save life!" through the open window.

A Fire Brigade officer came up through the window. He took me down into the street. There I was put into an ambulance. I was taken to hospital, from where I was discharged on the following day.

While I was in the kitchen, I do not remember having heard or seen anyone else. I was not injured in any way. There was much smoke in the kitchen, but no other part of it caught fire but the windows.

HOW FIRE STARTED

Lo Lam, aged 51, a cotton quilt maker, told of how the fire started on the first floor of No. 480, Shanghai Street.

On the day of the fire, he finished work in the shop on the first floor about 2 p.m. He stayed on the floor to look after the shop, while the time away in preparing some cotton to be worked on next morning.

About 8 p.m., two apprentices arrived from his master's shop

some three blocks away. They weighed out a quantity of cotton wool, and having done so put one bundle of about 20 catties under his bed and another bundle, of about the same weight, under another bed in the room.

His own bed, Lo said, consisted of wooden boards supported on two trestles. The other consisted also of wooden boards. These rested on four supports. When they completed their work, the apprentices left. Soon after, Wong Sul, one of the shop foks, came back.

40 MADE-UP QUILTS

Beside the 40 catties of cotton wool the apprentices had measured out, there was a small quantity of that material also on the verandah. There were also in the room about 40 made-up quilts, hanging down separately from wooden ceiling and wrapped up each in brown grass paper. These quilts were stuffed with cotton wool and weighed about seven or eight catties each.

"I lay down on my bed shortly after 8 p.m.," witness said. "After some 15 or 20 minutes I sat up and struck a match, lighting my pipe. I threw the burnt match on the floor. I had satisfied myself that it was out, but it was still glowing slightly. I used only this one match, and I threw it on the outer side of my bed."

"I had been smoking a little when I noticed a light near the head of my bed. That light came from near where I threw the match down. When I saw this I immediately jumped up. The cotton under my bed was already alight."

"I tried to smother the fire with the quilt I was using to cover myself. This did not put the fire out, but the bundle under the bed next to mine caught alight from the flames that darted out from under the quilt. I was using to smother the fire with."

HANDS AND LEGS BURNED

"I could not put the fire out and by this time my hands and legs were burnt. I don't know if there was anyone to give me assistance. I did not see Wong Sul."

"I continued struggling thus for about 10 or 15 minutes. When I gave up the struggle, I was already so excited I cannot say how much the fire had spread. I had to leave because of my burnt hands and feet."

"I met nobody on the stairs as I ran down. I stood on the footpath in the street by the staircase for a short while. I called out twice 'Fire!' but I don't know if anybody heard me. Later, I walked to my master's shop where my burns were treated with oil.

The foreman of the jury, Mr. Gellman, questioned the witness as to his experience with cotton wool on fire. Witness replied that ordinarily cotton wool is very inflammable. He noticed the fire spread quite evenly over the cotton, and there was little or no smoke.

The next witness heard was Wong Su, who corroborated some of Lo's evidence. The inquiry will be continued this afternoon.

Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen is sitting as Coroner, and the jury comprises Messrs. B. A. Gellman (foreman), Wong Kwai-yin and J. A. Remedios.

Hongkong A.D.C. To Present "The Circle" In February

PROCEEDS IN AID OF B.W.O.F.

For their first production of the 1940 season, the Hongkong A.D.C. have chosen Somerset Maugham's wittiest and most amusing comedy, "The Circle," which will be presented at the China Fleet Club Theatre for four nights, 21-24, inclusive.

WITTY COMEDY

The play concerns the complications and reactions which ensue when Lady Catherine Champlin-Cheney, who thirty years before gave up all "for love" and ran away with a married man, is held up as an awful example to her daughter-in-law, Elizabeth, who is seriously thinking of doing the same.

The situation is very amusingly worked out and the play is full of scenes and situations in which all the author's gifts for witty comedy and biting cynicism are seen at their best.

THE CAST

The cast contains a number of old Hongkong favourites, including Helen Prior, who has been a stalwart stand-by of the Hongkong A.D.C. for many years now; Cyril Champkin, in the part of a crochety and irritable old Peer, always having trouble with his false teeth and with original ideas on the sanctity of Bridge; and Winnie Cox, as Elizabeth.

It will be remembered that Winnie Cox played with great distinction in a former production of the A.D.C., "Night Must Fall."

A NEWCOMER

Beth Smith-Wright has a small part, and among the newcomers is E. B. Teesdale, who is shaping very well in the part of a some-

MORTGAGE CASE CONCLUDES

After further submissions by Mr. Eldon Potter, K.C., for the plaintiffs, the alleged mortgage fraud action, involving No. 300 Des Voeux Road Central and No. 96 Wing Lok Street, concluded at the Supreme Court yesterday, when the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor, reserved judgment. The action lasted for two weeks.

Before rising, the Chief Justice wished Mr. H. G. Sheldon, K.C., who appeared for the defence, success in his post of Crown Counsel, to which he had recently been appointed, and Mr. Potter, for the Bar, associated himself with His Lordship's words.

Unlawful Possession Of Wood

Three men, who were arrested in Cheung Chau, were jointly charged with the unlawful possession of 1,501 catties of tree wood. They were each fined $250, or three months' imprisonment by Mr. R. Edwards, at the Central Court yesterday.

The men were Li Tung, 21, unemployed; Lo Ng, 27, and Ho Yau, 29, farmers.

Serg. Whitcroft told the Court that he saw Ho Yau carrying a sling of firewood, which he threw away when witness approached. He followed Ho to the sea-front and found the two other defendants with a large quantity of firewood.

Altogether the production promises to be a great success, and will undoubtedly provide a good antidote to the troubles of the times. All the proceeds will be devoted to the British War Organisation Fund.

HONGKONG, JANUARY 12, 1940

AMERICAN
VIEW

DOES IT MATTER to Americans now what Wilson was trying to do in 1915, or what Jefferson was attempting in 1807? Yes, it does.
With war in Europe, these questions emerged from academic twilight into the high noon of practical consideration of America's continued peace. Today the United States' peace depends on the wisdom with which Americans tackle problems of neutral rights which are not coverable by legislation such as the Neutrality Act.

MOST AMERICANS SYM-PATHIZE with the Allied cause. But some of them hesitate to give economic aid to this cause. These fear that, as in 1917, the United States may add military to economic aid. The fears arise in part from over-simplified interpretations of the 1917 decision, and in part from failure to recognize the revolutionary change in attitude toward neutral rights manifest in the 1939 neutrality legislation.

WHILE RECOGNIZING the difference of attitude as between Wilson's insistence on trade and travel rights—his interpretation of the latter being open to question in any case—numerous Americans imagine that in Jefferson's day, at any rate, embargoes and trade restrictions were attempted as keep-out-of-war measures, as they are today. They know that pressure of shipping and other commercial interests resulted in the lifting of these laws in the last month of Jefferson's administration and that by 1812, the United States was at war. But in likening the Jeffersonian experiment to that now undertaken they overlook a vast difference in motives.

JEFFERSON'S MEASURES
were not directed toward insulation, but toward assertion of American rights on the seas. The embargo was not intended to signify any renunciation of these rights, as does the cash-and-carry law; Jefferson applied it as a retaliatory measure against countries interfering with American rights at sea. Thus both Wilson and Jefferson were devoted to maintenance of rights which Americans have now shown themselves willing to forego. And some historians believe that the dual character of these attempts—the insistence on rights plus the hope of keeping out of war—was what made them so difficult for their administrators.

AGAINST THIS BACK-GROUND the American hope
of keeping out of 1939's war seems not so futile as some imagine it to be. Likewise the danger from economic support of a cause with which Americans sympathize and with which important national interests intertwine would seem less than in 1812 or 1917. Some have felt that American experience in those two conflicts proved that only by abstinance from trade
could American peace be preserved in time of major war.

THIS DESPITE the fact that European neutrals both traded and kept out of the World War. American peace, like theirs, is a question of the position the American Government takes on observance of its rights. It is a question of policy more than
of legislation. And this time.

CONDITIONS IN SHUMCHUN

Chau told me that the National Government of China was doing everything possible to help those whose homes and crops had been damaged by the Japanese.

WRECKED AND ROBBED

"Every bit of timber in the district, even doors, and household furniture were used by the Japanese for firewood and the poor unfortunate people returned to find their homes wrecked and robbed," he told me.

"While the Chinese Government cannot undertake to refurbish
their homes," Mr. Chau continued,
"We are ready to assist deserving cases with food, seeds for sowing new crops and even clothing, and several cases are being closely examined for this purpose."

"Chinese citizens who went to Hongkong following the Japanese occupation of Shum-chun are urged to return to their former homes," said Mr.
Chau when I asked him if he had any message for his countrymen across the border.
"The Government will do everything possible to assist them in the task of rehabilitation."

Mr. Chau told me that already about 25 per cent of the former population had returned and every day more and more were coming back. "Soon conditions here will be quite normal," he added.

I then heard soldiers drilling in the yard outside. Rushing to the window, I saw a group of guerillas lined up. They were parading before their mid-day meal. In a corner-room I espied five men lying on mats on the floor. On inquiry, I learned that they were prisoners.

The men had been arrested for cutting and stealing the electric cables from the power house and were awaiting trial. I saw one closer examination that they were hounded by their wrists behind their backs and also chained to the wall.

Several shops in Shumchun have been re-opened and the market was a fairly busy place with several stalls already operating. There was a row of opium dives in one street and all of them seemed to be doing excellent business.

One woman, proprietor of a millinery shop, was having her establishment cleaned up. She told me that she had lost $5,000 worth of stock.

I walked through almost every street of the town. One out of every ten houses was re-occupied.
The people wore expressions of calm and confidence. At every junction armed guerillas stood on guard behind sandbag barriers,
left behind by the Japanese.

DRAINS CONGESTED

The drains are congested with stagnant water and the streets are full of dirt and refuse. Sanitary conditions are very bad;
there is danger of an epidemic
breaking out.

Mr. Chau, the acting magistrate, has appealed to Mr. Alfred Morris, for assistance in coping with the large number of cases of malaria.
As already stated, Mr. Morris has started a hospital in the old Casino where five nurses are on duty. I have been reliably informed that the Casino will be permanently used as a hospital.

At present the populace,
though sparse, is living under trying conditions. The town's power plant was damaged beyond repair by the Japanese before they withdrew and as a result there is no power for working the water system. In consequence the taps are dry and well water has to be used. This again is another source of danger to public health.

But the Chinese Government has set about coping with a difficult task in a highly efficient manner and, before long, Shum-chun promises to be once again its former self.

GAMBLERS IN COURT

A fine of $25, or one month's imprisonment, was imposed on Lai Sum, 31, unemployed, when he appeared before Mr. R. Edwards, at the Central Court yesterday, and pleaded guilty to the charge of keeping a common gambling house in Hollywood Road.

Three of six others, who pleaded guilty to having participated in the gambling, were each fined $3,
while the absentees had their bail of $3 each estimated. Table money of 92 cents was ordered to be put in the Poor Box.

How Tuberculosis Problem Has Been Approached In England And Wales:
Proportion Of Deaths In H.K. In 1938 Eight Times HigherDR. ROBERT LIM
ON CHINESE
RED CROSS WORK

In the previous talks we have discussed the Tuberculosis situation in Hongkong and what can be done about it. It is necessary to abandon the unhelpful idea that the problem is too big and difficult to tackle. That the effort is worth while is amply demonstrated by what has been accomplished elsewhere in circumstances almost though, happily, not quite as bad.

Perhaps a brief description of the manner in which the problem has been approached in England and Wales might be of interest.

In England the administration for diagnosis and treatment of Tuberculosis is, in the main, carried out by the individual counties and county boroughs. The county or county borough medical officer of health is the administrative head of the organisation. Wales, on the other hand, possesses a joint scheme for the whole of the counties and county
boroughs.

The following figures showing the mortality rates from Tuberculosis per hundred thousand of the population over different periods in the past three decades
or so are thought provoking.

	England	Wales	H.K.
1901-10	156	162	280
1911-15	141	136	280
1926	88	88	244
1937	68	88	406
1938	62	81	496

Statist in, perhaps, a rather more simple way, in the past thirty years the proportion of deaths from Tuberculosis to the total population in England has fallen to considerably less than half the former level whilst that in Hongkong has nearly doubled. The proportion of deaths from Tuberculosis in Hongkong in 1938 was nearly eight times higher than in England in the same year.

REDUCTION EXPLAINED

In order to explain the way in which this remarkable reduction in the mortality rate from Tuberculosis has been achieved in England, it might be worth while considering the Tuberculosis organisation of the Lancashire County Council, since the population is about the same as that of Hongkong at present (4,359,200).

The scheme was initiated under the National (Health) Insurance Act of 1911 and since 1914 has been controlled by the County Tuberculosis Department inaugurated in that year.

The area is divided into five large districts, each with its own consultant Tuberculosis officer and a small sanatorium of 50 beds. In addition, three small districts each have their own Tuberculosis officer and a large institution of upwards of 200 beds.

That close co-operation exists between the Tuberculosis officers,
medical officer of health and general medical practitioners is proved by the fact that 92 per centum of all new cases in 1938 were sent by private practitioners to the Tuberculosis officer for opinion as to diagnosis and treatment before notification.

Every effort is made to isolate infectious cases in separate bedrooms or, at worst, in separate beds, by lending bedsteads and mattresses to poor patients or by assisting them from "care" funds to buy bedding.

REHOUSE FAMILIES

Under the Housing Act of 1935
local authorities in England and Wales are required to rehouse
families reported by the Tuberculosis dispensary Staff to be living in over-crowded houses. Full advantage has been taken of these powers by those responsible for the Tuberculosis campaign in Lancashire and the housing conditions of many patients have thus been improved.

It is interesting to record that no fees are asked for institutional treatment of Tuberculosis (as in Hongkong). In Lancashire and elsewhere in England and Wales,
an occupational training in village settlements is also free—the families of patients being taken in without charge.

Some 705 beds are provided for cases suffering from Tuberculosis of the lungs. This is equivalent to one bed for every 2,637 members of the population, or eighty-two beds
for every 100 deaths from Pulmonary Tuberculosis. For Tuberculosis of bones, joints, glands and other parts of the body, there are 276 beds; that is to say, one to every 6,736 head of population or 143 for every 100 deaths from the non-pulmonary form.

VALUE OF AFTER-CARE

The value of after-care is fully recognised by the County Council, which gives liberal financial support to the committees responsible for follow-up work.

From the short description given,
it is apparent that the Lancashire County Tuberculosis scheme requires a fairly large sum to finance
it. In point of fact, for the year ended the March 31, 1937, the expenditure amounted to £195,075 (H.K. $5,174,101.69), which is equivalent to 11 times the whole Medical Budget for 1939 for Hongkong.

On the credit side it would seem that in the 23 years from 1914 to 1937 the Tuberculosis death-rate in the Lancashire County area has fallen 52 per centum and the case rate by 49 per centum. This fine record is believed to have been due very largely to the policy of combining the preventive and curative
aspects of the work—finding, isolating, educating and treating
all infectious cases amongst adults.

TOO MANY DEMANDS

It is obvious that there are far too many demands on the public purse in Hongkong to make it feasible to devote a tenth of the annual expenditure on Tuberculosis control, that is spent in the Lancashire County area. Nevertheless, this realisation would not justify an inactive attitude in the face of what amounts to a major crippling and killing disease in this Colony.
Consequently, it behoves all of us to do our utmost to assist in the campaign that has just been launched in Hongkong.

In bringing this talk on Tuberculosis
to a close, may I appeal to all those in Hongkong who have for the past fortnight been listening to the Chinese or English broadcasts on this subject to join hands with the medical and health authorities
in their fight against the disease,
so actively described as "the white plague." Those who are willing to help or who have practical suggestions to offer are cordially invited to communicate with the Director of Medical Services, third floor,
Central Post Office Building.

Cargo For H.K.
Pirated
From 2 Junks

Miscellaneous cargo consigned to Hongkong from Chinese territory, valued at $6,600, was pirated from two junks in the course of their voyage to the Colony from Tai Hong.

Lam Choi, travelling trader, told the police on his arrival here yesterday that he left Tai Hong on December 20 with several others in the two junks. The next evening,
they were stopped near Man Ping Shan by two sampans which contained nine armed men each. A machine-gun was also mounted in one sampan.

The robbers caused the two junks
to drop anchor, and then transferred the cargo ashore. During these operations, which lasted two or three hours, the passengers and crews of the junks were kept prisoners in the holds.

Subsequently taken ashore, the latter were released only on January 6.

Economic Problems And Nazi-Russo Relations To
Fore In German Politics

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 11 (Reuter)—According to the Telegraaf's
Berlin correspondent, economic problems and German-Russo relations are the two subjects in the forefront of political activity in the highest Nazi circles.

Dr. Ritter, Chief of the delegation to Russia, is expected to return to Moscow within the next 36 hours to resume negotiations.

It is learned here that Germany is desperately anxious to clean up matters but goods from Russia are coming through very slow. Of 1,000,000 tons of cattle fodder ordered by Germany in October less than 100,000 tons has, as yet, arrived.

It is also understood that the newly-hatched idea of paying workmen partly by food tickets and savings bank coupons has already aroused great discontent among the workers.

HARDEST WINTER

The Telegraaf's Berlin correspondent states that the winter promises to be the hardest since 1938
and this means a shortage of fuel and certain foodstuffs arising from transport difficulties which are doubtful serious.

Forty per cent of the internal transport of Germany is handled by waters which are now completely frozen. Railways are mostly needed for war purposes, consequently there were houses in Berlin without fire since Christmas and whole families had to go to the hotel.

The correspondent adds that the people are refusing to pay rent.

Kowloon City
Robbery

In a report to the police, Lai
Chun-tai, aged 40, widow, of No.
5, Lai Chi Yuen Village, Kowloon
City district, stated that about 9.45 o'clock last night, four men, one armed with a revolver, believed to be a toy one, entered her premises.

The robbers left with a $5 note,
$7 in 5-cent pieces, 25 copper
cents and a gold finger ring, valued at $3.

COLONY HEALTH

Twelve cases of tuberculosis, seven cases of chicken-pox, two cases of enteric fever and one case of dysentery were notified to the

RUSSIAN CONCENTRATE TROOPS FOR FRESH ONSLAUGHTS ON FINNISH FRONTS

LONDON, Jan. 11 (Reuter)—Finnish circles in London state that the Russians have concentrated "astonishingly large masses of troops" on the Salla and Lake Kianta fronts. Hence the Finns expect to face new onslaughts there shortly.

Fighting Qualities Of The Finns

BRUSSELS, Jan. 11 (Havas)—The Finnish soldiers are displaying marvellous fighting qualities. General Badoux declared, when he returned here yesterday after nine months spent in Finland in the capacity of adviser for the construction of the Mannerheim Line.

Gen. Badoux said: "I led, during the Yser Battle, the famous Manner Van Den Ghele. I saw the French and British fight in the World War and I was still more astonished when I saw the fighting qualities of the Finnish soldier."

The Finns are helped by the most modern organization in a defence line in which machine-guns are invulnerable and visible on the surface, with small-sized armoured bells in which the machine-gunner is invisible while covering a large field.

He is protected on the flanks by two other heavy machine-guns.

"The Finns let the Russians approach to 200 meters and then open fire, which is a real sweeping away of human lives."

ITALIAN COMMENT

ROME, Jan. 11 (Havas)—Rome papers are commenting freely on the Finnish victory in Suomussalmi. The Messengers states: "This disaster plainly demonstrates that the Kremlin has morally lost the war. Whatever Moscow may do to alter the trend of its military enterprise, which is causing so much bitterness to the Soviet leaders, nothing can give back the Soviet armies the honour they have lost on the Finnish battlefields."

To commemorate the centenary of the introduction of adhesive postage stamps, the Postmaster General in Britain announces that in May a special series of lower priced stamps will be issued.

JAPANESE FORCED TO WITHDRAW FURTHER IN NORTH KWANGTUNG: CHINESE PUSH TO TSENGSHING

cluding the Japanese, but the greater part of the fleet, about 70 junks, were surrounded by the ring of Japanese vessels.

RING TIGHTENED

The ring was tightened as shelling progressed. A few junks sank, the rest were eventually boarded by parties off the trawlers, tied together and destroyed by fire.

Scenes of horror were described by the survivors, who stated that the Japanese machine-gunned the struggling people in the water for more than two hours. It was not until the great bonfire had settled and they were certain that they had disposed of the junks' crews that the Japanese steamed away.

Between 10 and 20 people were on board each junk at the time, it is stated, so that over 1,000 lives were probably sacrificed.

Estimating each junk to cost $15,000, including gear, loss of property, therefore, amounts to more than $1,000,000.

FIRST BIG DISASTER

Japanese molestation of fishing junks in South China noticeably diminished in the last six months, and, though several small incidents were recently made known, this is the first large-scale disaster to be reported.

It is estimated that, since September, 1937, when the first fishing junk was known to have been stopped and burned by the Japanese, at least 1,000 craft have been lost and more than 15,000 persons have perished or have not been traced.

The normal fishing population of Hongkong is between 70,000 and 80,000, and the normal earnings of this vast number, worked out at an average of $200 per head per year, reach the staggering annual total of about $16,000,000.

In the last two years, however, Japanese interference caused the annual returns to drop to only about $3,000,000. At least 30,000

HELSENKI, Jan. 11 (Reuter)—A communique states that on the Karelian Isthmus the day was relatively quiet, apart from the usual artillery and patrol activity.

DEFENCES STRENGTHENED

The Russians continue to strengthen their defences. On the Suomussalmi Front, Finnish troops reached the frontier and cleared the area of enemy troops. This is the fourth point where the invaders who crossed the frontier were thrown back on to Russian soil.

SWEDISH CONCERN

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 11 (Reuter)—Swedish concern over Soviet aggression on Finland was expressed in two quarters on Tuesday night.

The Swedish Parliament passed a series of emergency measures, which are applicable in the event of war or threat of war.

The Chief of the Military College said that if Soviet Russia is not stopped on the Karelian Isthmus, Sweden will be in danger. Sweden knew from the years 1809 to 1918 what it means to have a Russian border close to her own and "We don't want to have that situation again."

Another trainload of Swedish volunteers has left Stockholm for Finland.

SWISS UNEMPLOYED FOR MILITARY SERVICE

BERNE, Jan. 11 (Reuter)—Twenty-two thousand unemployed will be drafted into military service according to the latest decree passed by the Federal Council.

They will be entitled to the same pay as those in regular military service.

All able-bodied unemployed who refuse to enter military service will be deprived of their unemployment benefits.

Air Battle Over North Sea

LONDON, Jan. 11 (Reuter)—The Air Ministry announces that an R. A. F. formation encountered long-range enemy fighters far out over the North Sea yesterday.

A running fight, lasting half an hour, followed.

CRASH INTO SEA

One Messer-Schmidt 110 was seen to crash into the sea and it is known that another was forced to land in Denmark.

One of our aircraft was lost, but the remainder, after beating off the enemy, continued to the easterly limit of their reconnaissance and returned safely.

CONSIDERABLE ACTIVITY

LONDON, Jan. 11 (Reuter)—Considerable aerial activity was seen from towns on the south-east coast of Scotland before noon today when three black planes, believed to be German, were chased out to sea by British fighters.

Shrapnel fell in the streets of South Shields when a high-flying enemy aircraft was driven off by gunfire.

The people in the streets of a Kettish town heard distant heavy gunfire about 1 p.m. but no planes were seen.

On the Essex coast, anti-aircraft guns were also in action against unidentified aircraft flying eastwards at a high altitude over the Thames Estuary. No sirens were sounded and no bombs were dropped.

NO ENGAGEMENT

LONDON, Jan. 11 (Reuter)—The Air Ministry announces that "with reference to the numerous reports of intense activity of the bombing in the region of Sylt yesterday no British Air Force craft were in that area after approximately 1 a.m. on Jan. 10."

"As already announced, there was no air engagement far out at sea and the Air Ministry has no knowledge of any event which would account for the reports referred to."

MORE HASTE THAN ACCURACY

LONDON, Jan. 11 (Reuter)—The two German bombers which attacked British shipping off the East Coast on Tuesday, aimed forty bombs at the British steamer Northwood (1,146 tons), but all missed.

NO CASUALTIES

There were no casualties among the crew, although the ship was swept with machine-gun fire.

One of the planes was hit about the fuselage by the Northwood's Lewis gun and immediately afterwards both machines made off.

When the vessel arrived in port yesterday, the Captain said that the German machines dropped to try bombs with more haste than accuracy. The attack lasted ten minutes.

NAVAL STATEMENT

The Naval Authorities state that, with reference to the German High Command's Communique of Jan. 9, German aircraft attacked 15 isolated ships not in convoy off the East Coast of Britain throughout daylight on Jan. 9.

The majority of the ships attacked, of which four were Danish, were small, unarmed merchant vessels; but, in spite of being bombed, only two, totalling 3,000 tons, are known to have sunk.

UNSTABLE ALLIES - SOVIET EQUILIBRIUM

(Special to the Hongkong Daily Press)

LONDON, Jan. 11 (Havas)—Many observers here are asking themselves whether the unstable equilibrium between the Allies and the Soviet is going to last and many are answering in the negative.

Mr. Chamberlain's speech yesterday shows that Britain is not taking the initiative to attenuate the present tension unless Moscow abandons its Finnish adventure and all indications show that Moscow is determined to pursue the campaign.

Many political circles believe that Russia wishes, for the time being, to continue the campaign, while certain quarters still fear that the Allies and German may come to a reconciliation at her expense.

As the last hypothesis is impossible, it is conceivable that Germany and Russia may sooner or later completely join hands.

Meanwhile, political circles are

Army & Navy Increases In America

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (Reuter)

The U. S. House of Representatives Appropriations Committee generally approved President Roosevelt's emergency defence outlays in proposing that Congress should provide $267,000,000 for Army, Navy and Coast Guard purposes.

GUAM IMPROVEMENTS

Special to the H.K. Daily Press WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (Havas)—Havas understands that no separate project for the fortification of Guam will be made during this session of Congress, but credits will be necessary to improve its naval and air facilities which will be included in the Naval Budget for "improving air base."

JAPANESE CABINET RESIGNATION EXPECTED DURING WEEK - END

TOKYO, Jan. 11 (Reuter)—All newspapers this morning agree that the Prime Minister, General Nobuyuki Abe, will definitely resign after the Privy Council has approved the provisional Japanese-Soviet Fisheries Agreement on Saturday.

His resignation is expected on Sunday or Monday provided the Lord Privy Seal, K. Yuasa, and President of the Privy Council, Prince Konoye, in the meantime, are able to find a successor acceptable to the Army, Navy, political, financial and industrial circles.

"UPS AND DOWNS"

In this connexion, the Asahi Shimbun declares: "Hopes and speculative ideas are all in confusion in the quarters concerned, including the senior statesmen close to the Throne, military and political circles."

"Various ups and downs," it adds, "are unavoidable before these become united."

The newspaper forecasts an extraordinary session of the Cabinet on Jan. 15, when the Premier will express his determination to resign.

NEW PREMIER?

Well-informed circles believe that the new Premier will probably be a military man on the retired list, but it is possible that a general on the active list may be commanded to form a Cabinet.

The Asahi Shimbun makes an interesting note that the recommendation of a new Premier to the Emperor is nowadays the responsibility of the Keeper of the Privy Seal, Mr. K. Yuasa, though the views of aged Prince Salome, the elder statesman, continue to be consulted.

WESTERN FRONT

2 NAZI RAIDS REPULSED

PARIS, Jan. 11 (Reuter)—Two German patrol raids on Tuesday were halted, with heavy losses to the enemy. The German raiders came into contact with French patrols and there were brisk exchanges of rifle-fire and hand-grenades.

HEAVY FOG

Due to the heavy fog, there was little air activity. Save for long reconnaissance flight by Nazi planes over North-West France.

FIRST LORD'S TRIBUTE

PARIS, Jan. 11 (Reuter)—Before leaving France, Mr. Winston Churchill said he has been much impressed by the co-operation and friendship which existed, not only between the British and French Staff Officers, but of all others, especially the lower ranks.

Anyone at home, who was gloomy about the war, would benefit by spending a few days with the British and French armies, he said.

H.M. the Queen has approved the appointment of Princess Alice, Countess of Athlone, to be Commandant-in-Chief of the Women's Transport Service.

PREMIER'S CONFIDENCE IN BRITAIN'S READINESS TO FACE GRIM STRUGGLE AHEAD WINS WORLD PRAISE AND APPROVAL

LONDON, Jan. 11 (Reuter)—Worldwide interest is being shown in Mr. Chamberlain's speech at Mansion House on Tuesday. His words of confidence that Britain is ready to face a grimmer struggle ahead meet with approval.

All American papers print the text of the speech and typical comment is that of the New York Times, which says: "Mr. Chamberlain's speech crackled with determination to win the war, no matter at what cost."

Nevertheless, the paper continues, he is able to look ahead to the eventual problem of the next peace settlement. The real strength of Anglo-French unity would not be seen until the Nazi danger is destroyed.

If this time the leaders and people of Britain and France can live up to Mr. Chamberlain's hopes for an extension of Anglo-French unity, there will be reason to look forward, "without dread, to the shape of things to come."

FRENCH PRESS

The French press emphasises the importance of Mr. Chamberlain's remarks on Anglo-French collaboration.

A United Sunday School Children's service will be held in St. John's Cathedral on Sunday at 3 p.m. when all Churches will be represented.

HAPPY UNION OF PEOPLE UNDER BENEVOLENT RULE OF BRITISH CROWN

LONDON, Jan. 11 (Reuter)—Replying to Herr Hitler's bombastic New Year message to the Nazi Party, in which he declared that the German battle is being waged against "the old powers of a decaying world," Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, Secretary for the Colonies, broadcasting to the Empire, said, inter alia, that those wishing to learn the quality of Britain's strength must look not only at this island, but beyond, to all the corners of the earth where the peoples are associated in a happy union under the British Crown.

PROUD ARRAY

"There was a proud array in the Dominions and these new nations yield nothing in youthfulness to other people. Then there was India and Burma and two-score countries in the Colonial Empire."

"The present struggle is between the old system of force and a new system, in which free and equal nations can live amicably and peacefully together," concluded Mr. MacDonald. "Britain and the Dominions are a company of free nations, living in permanent accord and that fact is the surest guarantee that victory will be ours."

Out of the total of $140,000 received, some $60,000 remain. Grants have also been made for relief work in Honan.

Unity Of Control For Air Force In France: Closer Co-Operation With Army

LONDON, JAN. 11 (REUTER)—AIR-MARSHAL BARRATT ARRIVED BY AIR YESTERDAY AT THE HEADQUARTERS OF THE AIR FORCE FROM THE PLACE WHERE HE HAD BEEN STATIONED SINCE THE START OF THE WAR AS SENIOR AIR LIAISON OFFICER WITH THE FRENCH FORCES.

All ranks of the British Air Forces, says Reuter's special correspondent with the British Air Forces in France, welcome the new development, which is a sequel to the ever-growing strength of Britain's air arm in France.

It is pointed out here that the unity of control is considered an advantage, as all available Air Forces can be used in the best way according to the course of events.

CLOSE CO-OPERATION

There is no question that they have been receiving any less support from the air and, in practice, the excellent co-operation between the Army and the Air Force will be unaffected.

It may be emphasised that Air-

H.K. EMPLOYMENT

SHANGHAI BUSINESS girl has sent this department a short note asking about employment and living conditions in Hongkong, and that we answer through this medium, concerning the possibilities.

REGARDING POSITIONS of merit for young women here in the Colony, they are far and few. We should advise you to hold on to your position in the North and, at a later date, say, on your vacation, make a trip to Hongkong when you can investigate working and living conditions for yourself. Have you tried connecting a firm having a branch office in Hongkong? There might be a possibility that you can secure a position in this way. Sometimes it happens that local business houses here import their office employees from Shanghai, Manila or Singapore. Commercial business in Hongkong is going along but not in a "booming" manner.

THE IN-LAWS

IN-LAW TROUBLES is a young wife now in her third year of married life. In the past nine months her husband's relations have arrived to live here from various parts of the China Coast, and have evidently made the young wife's home life difficult. They are constantly in her home uninvited, they criticize and raise discussions over her management of the home. Can she be rude and ask them to get out and stay out of her house?

FIRST OF ALL speak to your husband about this feeling and the conditions. Do not exaggerate or criticize his relatives, merely state the facts, without comment. Tell him exactly how you feel. He may be able to clear up the whole situation. If this does not work out, commence to be difficult and a little rude to your unwelcome guests, no doubt they will probably decide you are a horrible creature, but it might be worth it for peace of the home. There are many small ways by which you can inform them they are not wanted without being out and out rude.

For instance, if they remain late in the afternoon and you know they intend to stay for dinner, have the cook prepare this meal for you and your husband, then at the dinner hour rise and pardon yourself sweetly informing them that you did not expect to have them for dinner and consequently the menu does not allow the added company. After which, suggest calling them a taxi and fetching their wraps. Push these people nicely and sweetly out of your home and after several weeks of this practice you will notice their more frequent absences.

HEATED LETTER

OLD FASHIONED secretary writes an amusing and heated letter concerning her young employer and number two in the office where she has been employed for three years. She does her work well, efficiently and willingly, however, she does not believe it should include evening entertainment for a young man "whose eyes are not quite sincere!" The problem is what can she do about the constant invitations she receives from him, the situation is becoming a bit uncomfortable for her?

THERE ARE SUCH things as "office romances" and many times they have turned into marriage even though the smart secretary knows her employer better than he does, his family or wife. Unless you object to the young man it would not be out of order for you to accept one of his invitations. But, if you do, be very careful of your conduct and do not try to carry on the next day in the office the informal social attitude of the evening before. If you do not care to accept the invitations tell him kindly that you are practically engaged and your time is devoted to other sources.

After you tell him this sincerely and do not at any time encourage him, I am sure you will not be annoyed further. Another thought—do you think he could be "kidding" you? That he might almost faint if you did accept?

DEAR FAITH PRIOR: I feel a little guilty. The other evening I accepted an invitation to the motion pictures and dinner in the hotel later. I attended the theatre and was half-way through dinner when I became very annoyed and disgusted with my escort. Excusing myself, I went to the ladies' powder room, wrote a note to the man, pardoning myself and explaining that I had gone home. Then I dashed into a taxi, leaving him. The following day he telephoned but I refused to speak with him and I do not wish to see him again but my conscience bothers me a little. Should I write him another note of apology? GUILTY CONSCIENCE.

DEAR GUILTY CONSCIENCE: Such conditions do occur and maybe we take the wrong course at the time, then there is nothing to do but admit your error and apologise. I suggest you write the gentleman a note again begging his pardon. It is not necessary for you to give reasons for your conduct. If you do not wish to see him again keep away from the telephone and do not make further engagements with him. When you see him on the street or in public smile and nod your head but do not stop to converse. Eventually he will get the idea you do not wish to nourish his acquaintance.

(Each week in this column FAITH PRIOR answers questions of a personal nature submitted by readers of the Daily Press.)

Pockets For Spring

Fashion designers are at it again and this time they are manoeuvring pockets. Spring's fashions have pockets extra large, and outside, to the small inside types.

Huge patch pockets at the waist on a wool street and afternoon frock.

Then again there is just one pocket, leather reinforced on a suit of bluish-wine tweed. This trimming is on the left hand side of the long jacket, below the waist.

The big knapsack pockets are amazing. Two flanking each side of a bulking top-coat of pinky beige duvetine. The English girls and women of London will welcome this style.

Fur pockets on street dresses and suits are very new and they are quite large making them stand out and lending quite a dash to the outfit.

Dinner suits have pockets too!

And your sport togs for warmer days have huge outside square pockets on the jackets or blouses which are tailored severely and worn outside of slacks or shorts.

Of course, when you possess such large carrying spaces in your frock it is an invitation to fill the cavities—but it won't be fashionable!

A NOVEL DESIGN

Lightweight wool jersey in a deep sea green silk jersey, designed by Bernard Newman, is worn by Virginia Bruce. The bodice is draped from a gathered shoulder line, sleeves end just below the elbow. Silver and aquamarine paillettes highlight the bodice. The skirt is draped in a recollection of the hobble skirt and the two-foot train breaks from just above the knees.

CHARM AND LURE IN PERFUME

Perfume and its fragrance is a potent force with two especially dominant actions. First, it is one of the primordial feminine lures, and, consequently, should not be categorized along with eye shadow and a new jewellery gadget. And, second, it is an extraordinary powerful memory stimulant. A mere pin-prick of fragrance, and forgotten moments pass through your mind.

Some of them rich and full of force, which you wonder how you ever forgot. Some a bit foolish which (unaccountably) your subconscious found worthy of note.

A perfume, sweet and soft, with a breath as warm as a midsummer's eve, or one of those wintry, carbonated, crystallized scents will bring a rush of memories... a parquet floor, reeling under a fast waltz... a little inn, way up in the hills.

Or, one of those intoxicating, bewildering, atavistic odours, will give you that sense of "but I've done this before... I've been here before!" Thus proving perhaps, that imagination is merely the other end of memory.

NATURAL SCENT Everyone has a natural fragrance, almost imperceptible to others, and quite unnoticeable to herself. But it is the natural scent, coupled with perfume, which gives you your personal fragrance. Select your perfume with introspection and the same disregard for price that you would show if you were buying personality over a counter.

Feel a little psychic about your perfume; regard it as an intimate, personal quality, rather than a compound which merely reacts on the nose... keep your bottles tightly sealed and away from the light. Don't overdo the application, on the grounds that you can no longer smell it. Remember that the little nerves of smell do not retain odour, as the eye sustains sight. Use your perfume imaginatively... on your eyebrows, the base of your throat, your finger-tips, your brow-line.

Never choose perfume because you like it on another woman. Never consider the bottle more than a gesture on the part of the perfumer to make his creation visual. Never recognize substitutes for perfume, for there are none.

USE IT Once you have settled on your perfume, make it a part of the way you live. And use it! It is discouraging to see dressing-table owners, with a false sense of economy, use toilet-water as a substitute, unaware, apparently, that perfume and toilet-waters were never intended to serve the same purpose.

Use your perfume, and see that it emanates from your hands, your hair. It should always appear to be coming from under your skin. It should never have a radius of more than a foot.

Realise that fragrance is a potent, elemental force. But don't let that intimidate you... Civilization has gentled it down until it is acceptable even to the reticent. Marvel a little at a glass bottle that holds an essence of an intangible and realize, with a wise nod, that fragrance is a secondary kind of charm; a double-edged enchantment to be handled carefully; the subtlest, most manly-able, of your attractions.

THIS IS WHAT THEY SAY ABOUT PARIS! Paris is not what it used to be these days, according to verbal reports; magazines and fashion sketches.

One goes oneself to market, one often bicycles and one needs pockets as well as bicycle bloomers.

Therefore, with this complete mix up in Parisian personalities the fashion designers are catering to their needs and demands.

Two new suits which have had publicity are from a famous French dressmaker. One suit of steel-grey has two pouch pockets on the jacket, a skirt slit open over tomato-red corduroy bloomers and with this combination, a tomato-red fedora crowns the head.

The second suit is an olive-green wool suit, with pouch pocket in the front of the jacket and a green slouch hat. This particular model

Round The Shops

No doubt the majority of shoppers about our city are at present snowed under with Christmas bills and have curtailed their hours in the shops and stores. Then, again, many of you find cold and chilly weather has come and it will continue until after Chinese New Year, and you are in need and searching for the inexpensive but smart and warm attire.

Maybe we can help you.

SWAGGER COATS

LANE, CRAWFORD is known for the tailored and smart sports coats. The cut, material and tailoring is always excellent, in fact, you can tell one of their coats a block away.

Now, they are showing new swagger coats in lovely "squashy" wools of bright colours including the favourites, black, navy and brown. The plaids, checks and pastel shades are unusual and distinctive. And the surprise is the price $45 and upward.

MID-SEASON

The mid-season of the fashion year is always a trying time. Everyone is tired of the frocks they have been wearing since early winter and spring's fashions have not come into complete bloom. But MAYOS, in the Gloucester Arcade, has thought of this and ordered just a few models of good values at reasonable prices to help their clientele through these weeks.

Evening frocks, demure or sophisticated of lovely coloured crepes and satins are being shown besides the dressy afternoon frocks. These later models are quite chic enough for dining, dancing and theatering. The silks in the dresses have been well selected and are in flattering and new shades.

And don't forget to have a "look" at their novelty accessories. Maybe you need a lift to your soul or there is a birthday or anniversary this month?

WHOLESALE DISCOUNTS

RIVELLE, in the Gloucester Arcade, is staging a sale of her complete specialty stock with various reductions on select groups.

Coats and hats are reduced to half-price, which should be good news now that the cold weather is here. The coats are in various categories of styling from the plain tailored models to the more dashing and exotic.

Evening and afternoon frocks have been marked down twenty per cent, from their original price. Maybe you are having mid-season difficulties and need a new formal gown, then don't forget to have an inspection here.

The many costume novelties are reduced to special prices. Novelty jewellery, gloves, neckware, blouses and many other gadgets are outstanding values.

Now Playing In Southern Waters

Many are the damsels playing in southern resorts these days and, at the same time, displaying previews of costumes for the coming spring and summer.

Culottes are back in the fashion picture and going over strong. The latest play suit, has culottes and a hooded halter, the latter is very new and so convenient.

White rubber crepe, darling of many ladies' hearts gives the poured-in swim suit effect. As a trim, animals or nature's beings hang the centre front.

Pale blue rayon jersey and crepe are designed into a three-piece play suit. Blouse, front button skirt and a lumber jacket, short bolero is the new addition.

New beach dresses, in rayon stripes, cover the ladies from neck to wrists; the skirts are pleated or flared and short.

SINS OF FIGURE

The new princess swimming suits are welcomed by damsels with large hips. It is made of white cloque cotton crinkly as a bark and it conceals many sins of figure.

A dead white suit, simple and skirted of clinging rubberized fabric shows up that lovely sun-tan you can acquire.

Another outstanding swimming suit and welcomed by actually swimmers is a classic, skirted model. It has a square neck with low back and fits the figure like paper on the wall. The material is a rubber silk and the new colour is wine-red.

A very new fad and one which is being made much use of is the evening bathing-suits. Yes, really, this costume designed from bright flowered silk has a halter bodice, short and long skirt. You dance in the bodice and long skirt which is fitted at the waist and of wide circular width at the bottom.

And you swirl in the halter and bathing-suits worn beneath. This is certainly a new innovation but evidently the girls approve from reports as to sales and demands.

APRIL-JUNE

JULY-SEPT.

After ruling firm on covering demand, the market closed steady.

NEW YORK COTTON: An opening demand from abroad was absorbed by further realizing. There was a slight reaction later, after which demand broadened, buying becoming quite general.

Sales of print-cloth for the week reached 50,000 yards. The tendency of cotton prices appears to be irregularly higher.

NEW YORK RUBBER: Shipment offerings were light. Continued factory demand was evident. It seems that only very little incentive would be required for a further advance.

CHICAGO WHEAT: A better feeling is developing owing to reports of a large scale buying of Canadian wheat by the British government and a better milling demand.

NEW YORK STOCKS: Previous close, 149.84; Today's close, 150.15; Change, up 31.

JAPANESE & WANG CHING-WEI AS FAR AWAY AS EVER FROM REACHING FINAL AGGREEMENT

SHANGHAI, Jan. 11 (Reuter).—"The Japanese authorities and Wang Ching-wei are almost as far away as ever from reaching a final agreement, despite all the excitement that appeared in the press recently, Reuter's correspondent was told by an authoritative source connected with Wang Ching-wei's entourage.

He added: "The only new development that occurred in the negotiations has been that terms of the general agreement reached some three months ago have been drawn up into a formula and deliberately allowed to leak out in Japan—presumably for purely Japanese domestic reasons."

WANG'S FOOTHOLD

CHUNGKING, Jan. 11 (Reuter).—"The early establishment of a puppet regime in Canton by Wang Ching-wei is forecast by well-informed Chinese quarters here.

They claim that, despite the formation of the proposed Central Government of China under Wang Ching-wei by the Japanese, the Peking and Nanking regimes would remain more or less beyond the control of Wang Ching-wei who, therefore, must seek the establishment of his own foothold elsewhere.

Under present circumstances, Chinese circles state, Canton is only the logical place where Wang

Ching-wei is in a position to establish such a regime, particularly as he, and many of his followers, are from South China.

FAILURE OF DRIVE

It is alleged that the Japanese drive to the north from Canton along the railway towards Shinkwan was for the purpose of preparing the way for the establishment of a puppet regime in South China.

The failure of the Japanese drive, according to Chinese quarters, elected to affect these plans which are stated to have received a stiff blow in the recent visit to Chungking of Mr. Ku Meng-yu, well-known Kuomintang leader, who was formerly a close associate of Wang Ching-wei.

Mr. Ku Meng-yu, who flew to Chungking from Hongkong last month, is reported to have definitely declared his opposition to Wang Ching-wei's peace move.

Mr. Ku Meng-yu returned to Hongkong on Dec. 14 by air after successful conversations here with Government leaders.

National Economy Savings Certificates

RESUMPTION OF SALE TODAY

With the permission of the Hongkong Government, the local sale of National Economy Savings Certificates issued by the Chinese Postal Bank, which was suspended a fortnight ago, will be resumed today, says Central News.

The certificates will be on sale at most of the local branches of Chinese banks and a number of department stores. The local Oversea-Chinese Bank and the Shanghai and Commercial Savings Bank are the principal agents and will undertake the repayment of these certificates when due.

As required by the Hongkong Government, the certificates will be subject to stamp duty in accordance with the Stamp Ordinance. The stamp duty of 10 cents per certificate will be borne by the Chinese Postal Bank.

NEW FEATURE

A new feature of the certificates sold here is that they may now be repaid not only in the Colony, but at any of the post office in China. When first placed on sale here, the certificates were only repayable at office of sale as required by the Hongkong authorities. This restriction has now been lifted.

The certificates are of two classes, bearer and registered, and are in six denominations, namely, $5, $10, $100, $1,000, $500 and $1,000, all in Chinese currency.

Dr. S. Y. Liu, Director-General of the Chinese Postal Bank, officially expressed the Chinese Government's appreciation of the Hongkong Government's permission for resumption of the sale of the certificates in the Colony in a letter to the Government yesterday.

GRAF SPEE DEFEAT ECHO

LONDON, JAN. 11 (BWS).—It may be recalled that attempts were made by the propaganda authorities in Germany to explain away the defeat of the Graf Spee by alleging that the British cruisers used mustard gas. These allegations were denied at the time by the British Admiralty, which stated that no mustard gas grenades or shells had ever been made for or used by the Royal Navy.

THE REPORT

The document bears nine signatures and reads as follows: "After careful examination of all wounded and sick from the battleship Admiral Graf Spee, treated in the Military Hospital and in the Pasteur Hospital, the special Technical Commission appointed by the Director General of the Army Medical Corps declares that it has found not the slightest trace of the symptoms which could give rise to the suspicion that they had been affected by war gases."

NAZI INTERNEES RELEASED ON PAROLE

LONDON, Jan. 11 (Reuter).—Of the 1,000 Germans interned in Tanganyika at the outbreak of war, 165 have been released on parole.

The men are not militarily efficient and of the women and children being repatriated, 300 have already left, and further parties will leave shortly. Those who "cannot be repatriated or paroled will be kept in internment for the duration of the war."

"Our Man-made Future" was the subject of an address given by Mr. J. L. Hadaway at the weekly meeting of the Theosophical Society yesterday.

Washington Aims At The Abolition Of Lynching

Special to the H.K. Daily Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (Havas).—Aiming at the definite abolition of lynching, the House of Representatives yesterday voted a Bill by which different States will be held responsible for any lynchings in their territories and will pay indemnities to the families of lynch victims.

POLICE OFFICER ROBBED

Chief Inspector W. H. Nolloth, of the Shamshuipo Police Station, was the victim of a car-burglary on Wednesday afternoon, when his revolver, which was loaded with six bullets, was stolen. The officer also took away his wrist watch and $12 in money.

The Bill is now awaiting the sanction of the Senate. During heated debates, Congressmen accused the Republican sponsors in manoeuvring to "win over the negro votes."

It is pointed out that lynchings have steeply declined in recent years: 231 lynchings in 1922 against 20 in 1933, 8 in 1937 and only two in 1939.

3 JAPANESE CABINETS REVIEWED

SENIOR STATESMEN TAKEN TO TASK

TOKYO, Jan. 11 (Reuter).—In reviewing the records of the three cabinets, Prince Konoye, Baron Hiranuma and Gen. Abe, administrations which have been in office since the start of the Sino-Japanese hostilities, the Asahi takes to task senior statesmen for alleged failure to pay any attention to the formation of a powerful national cabinet "in the true sense of the term."

The paper urges them to strive to form a powerful cabinet with a firm determination this time.

An important development in the political situation is likely to occur on Jan. 14 or Jan. 15, according to the Nichi Nichi.

The paper reports that Gen. Abe has abandoned the plea of facing the Diet with a vigorous attitude in view of the unfavourable atmosphere prevailing in senior Army and political circles.

The Nichi Nichi reports that Gen. Abe may attend the Privy Council on Jan. 13 when a protocol extending the fishery modus vivendi between Japan and the Soviet will be taken up for discussion.

"Black List" Of Neutral Firms

SECRET TRADING WITH GERMANY

Special to the H.K. Daily Press
LONDON, Jan. 11 (Havas).—The names of several neutral firms in China openly or secretly trading with Germany, are figuring, or will shortly figure, on the British "black list."

Such firms are at present endeavouring to form new business connections. They are especially interested in the South American markets.

At the same time they are trying to act as commission agents for purchasing or shipping Chinese goods on American account. These developments are likely highly to influence the situation of the Chinese export market since such firms are naturally offering the most suitable conditions.

ONLY DIRECT LINK

They hope for co-operation with Japanese enterprises since the only direct link existing between China and the east coast of South America is formed by Japanese liners.

At the same time, German firms have also tried to act as representatives of American firms but in many cases some of the German firms, which represented here American concerns before the war, have lost these representations as the result of war laws prohibiting British and French purchasers from dealing with enemy firms.

Some of the German firms have also found "American companies," thus camouflaging the original ownership to enable British and French firms to deal with them.

NAZI AIR ATTACKS ON DEFENCELESS SHIPS

LONDON, Jan. 11 (Reuter).—In connection with the attacks by German aircraft on unarmed merchantmen and defenceless fishing-boats, authoritative quarters pointed out that such methods of warfare "must make greater demands upon the conscience than upon the courage of the attackers and it is hard to believe that it can be anything but repugnant to the officers and men ordered to carry them out."

The Foreign Secretary and Lady Halifax gave a small farewell dinner party for the Brazilian Ambassador and Dona Gina Regis de Oliveira on Tuesday evening.

Mon. A. Apostolides, Greek Minister of Finance, and Mon. K. Varvaresos, Governor of the Bank of Greece, have arrived in London for commercial negotiations.
